CITY OF KANNAPOLIS' WATER TREATMENT PLANT RECEIVES AWARD

The staff at the City of Kannapolis Water Treatment Plant has been recognized as one of 66 plants in North Carolina to surpass state and federal standards for clean water. This is the sixth consecutive year the City has achieved this honor.

The City has earned the North Carolina's Area Wide Optimization Program Award, which means turbidity levels in the City's water is below federal and state minimums – which is a good thing. Turbidity is a measure of cloudiness or haziness in the water caused by particles that can interfere with disinfection.

While all drinking water systems have to meet strict federal and state standards, the City of Kannapolis has met performance goals that are significantly more stringent. This award is an example of how dedicated the Water Treatment Plant staff is and its commitment to the City and its customers in providing a safe and dependable supply of drinking water.

The Area Wide Optimization Program (AWOP) is a joint program between the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and all U.S. states. North Carolina has participated since 2000 and works cooperatively with water systems to use existing equipment and treatment processes to improve and optimize water quality.

Kannapolis Water Resources Staff Members:
Alex Anderson, Director of Water Resources;
James Irvin, Brian Woodie, Natalie Curry,
Tyler Legg, Gerald Faulkner and Wilmer Melton,
Assistant City Manager

KANNAPOLIS YOUTH COUNCIL MEMBERS SELECTED

Following an application process, the Kannapolis City Council has appointed 37 high school-aged students who live within the Kannapolis City limits to serve on the Kannapolis Youth Council. The Council's goal is to create opportunities for students to become engaged in leadership development, provide avenues for volunteerism, develop leadership and communication skills, practice teamwork and to have a line of communication to City leadership in the decision-making process for Kannapolis.

They represent A.L. Brown High School, Northwest Cabarrus High School, Cox Mill High School, Cannon School and homeschools.

Caroline Barlow, an A.L. Brown student, and Ally Zendejas, a student at Cox High School, are serving as co-chairs of the group. Additional members of the Youth Council are Allison Gordon, Ashley Burris, Carly Stegall, Courtney Graham, Destiny Davis, Gabe Perry, Lillian Watkins, Nevaeh Williams, Shriya Agarwal, Yesenia Vela, Grayson Burgess, Taylor Tapp, Ariyah Woodberry, Katelyn Wiseman, Angel Vazquez, Mileyna Rose, Asia Locke, Caroline Storey, Skyler Cauthen, Auja Cascen, Natalie Richardson, Kyla Mills, Alannah Green, Paige Gaskins, Emmy Watkins, Sweta Chokshi, Samantha Griffin, Jocelyn Vazquez Mota, Moira Hunter, Josephine Geoghan, Aiyana Ratliff, Le'Quanda Robinson, Makhi Nash, Alejandro Medina and Katie Purvis.

For more information, contact Annette Privette Keller, Director of Communications, at 704-920-4311 or aprivettekeller@kannapolisnc.gov.

CITIZENS GRADUATE FROM KANNAPOLIS 101 ACADEMY

Kannapolis residents who completed the Kannapolis 101 Academy were recently recognized by the Kannapolis City Council.

The residents completed the 10-week program last fall. The academy includes visiting City departments, meeting staff and getting a behind-the-scenes look at the services and function of the City. They learn about the police, fire and parks and recreation departments, learn how to plan a budget for the City, and gain an understanding about economic development and how planning guidelines impact development. Streets, transit and the Downtown Revitalization Project are also topics that were explored.

Graduating from the program this year were Rosemary Bianchini, Lisa Bunch, Allan Cauble, Brian Causey, Tess Dalsing, James Ellison, Elesha Ellison, Todd Fisher, Delphia Florence, Charles Fuller, Kristy Hobscheid, William Hobscheid, Kio James, Shay MacGregor, Danielle Martini, Janice Morrison, Josh Partridge, John Reeves, Donna Similton, James Tirota and Judy Whelan.

If you are interested in the next Kannapolis 101 Academy, please visit kannapolisnc.gov/GetInvolved and complete an application or contact Erika Riley at eriley@kannapolisnc.gov or 704-920-4316. Classes are free and held each September to November.

EMERGENCY RENTAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM REOPENED

Cabarrus County Government has reopened applications for the Emergency Rental Assistance Program (ERAP) for a limited time. Applications will be accepted until funds are exhausted.

The application portal temporarily closed in September so staff could process pending applications. That backlog has since been cleared.

Since March 2020, Cabarrus County has submitted more than $8.5 million in vendor payments on behalf of residents for overdue and future rent and utilities

(electricity, gas, water and sewer, trash removal and energy costs) that are not covered within rent. The County also allocated $3.5 million to Cooperative Christian Ministry to administer a similar program that follows the same purpose.

The County received federal and state funding for the program as part of various COVID-19 relief programs. To receive funding, applicants must document financial needs related to the COVID-19 pandemic. Once approved, funds are sent directly to the vendor.

In addition to ERAP, Cabarrus County has dedicated more than $35 million to help address Cabarrus County's most critical needs and help small businesses recover from economic hardship caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. To start the application process, visit erapapp.cabarruscounty.us/.
